Join Mark III Systems and Cray for lunch to see how Cray has turned decades of performance leadership and unique R&D into the ultimate open analytics platform (powered by Intel).

Whether your organization is relatively new to analytics or a seasoned data-driven enterprise with an eye toward the future of AI and deep learning, come see how Cray and its diverse portfolio of purpose-built, data-driven systems can greatly simplify and accelerate the process of building your preferred analytics stack and enable your enterprise to achieve faster business insights than ever before.

Some topics we'll cover:

- Amazing success stories from healthcare, oil & gas, energy & utilities, financial services, cybersecurity, government, and universities
- Cray's integrated, turnkey open analytics stack of your choice (Hadoop, Spark, Kafka, Cassandra, Cray Graph Engine)
- Integrated open AI stack of your choice (TensorFlow, Microsoft Cognitive Toolkit, etc.)
- Demo from Mark III Systems' digital development unit, BlueChasm, on how a live Cray system and its analytics/AI capabilities can be leveraged for a sample enterprise use case (image recognition)

Speakers:

Kent Winchell, Technical Marketing Manager at Cray

Scott Denham, Staff Engineer at Cray

Andy Lin, VP of Strategy at Mark III Systems
